
What's your favorite gaming accessory?

Posted by TyGuy22 - 2008/05/09 16:06

We all have our favorite games, but what's your favorite gaming accessory? Past, current, future ideas?

Personally my current favorite is the 360 chatpad. I didn't realize it at first but this little piece of hardware gets used on nearly a daily basis. Sending messages, setting up matches, naming Halo 3 forge content, and just discovered last night that it works when entering info on the police computer in GTA IV. Love not having to scroll through the on-screen keyboard.

My past favorite(s) were the light gun/superscope 6 for NES/SNES. I put both of these together because I like the idea overall. I miss shooting games. I miss Duck Hunt. Sucks that most won't work on new HD TVs. Oddly I don't own a Wii, and may never.

i would have to say that my favorite is. . .
sweet tea- it ups the gaming experience by so much.
i doubt that really counts, but try it haha.

Gotta give props to the Rockband drumset. It's a peripheral and a training tool. Yay!

If a TV counts, I would have to say the 52 inch flat screen. It helps when u don't have to sit close up to the tv to see everything.

I second the chat pad.

I use it everyday and I send tons of text messages now because I have the pad.

I love my chat pad. I still think they could create some game content that would take advantage of it. RTS comes to mind.

"The Don Chair" is a big gigantic chair I sit in, fit only for the Don himself. Trust me if you saw this chair you would know what I'm talking about. It is the prime gaming chair.

Also, I have a nifty cord that lets me play my PSP on my HDTV...that makes playing Disgaea or anything for that matter a lot easier thanks to the bigger size of the screen.

Skate, where can I find such a cord? Can you please post a link.

On topic: I'm surprised no one has said "Wii Fit Pad" yet. :)

It's a PSP Component cable... you can find one at any local Gamestop. The only thing is that it's only compatible with the PSP Slim.

heres the link: PSP Component Cable

Oh yeah, my favorite gaming accessorie is my Wireless network adapter.

I really, really want a wireless network adapter for my Xbox 360.

I am also a big fan of the Nyko Perfect Shot for Wii...although I hate most of the games that use it, it is one of the best light gun accessories to date. It looks like a gun, feels like a gun, and makes you feel like you are using a gun to play a video game. Good stuff.

Turtle Beach Ear Force X3 headset for the 360. My gaming was really suffering since the birth of my son 6 months ago. My surround sound became a big "No No" at night. Well, after getting these headsets I am finally back in the game. Plus I have heard a ton of things in Half Life and Halo 3 that I never heard before on campaign. So they get my vote, hands down.

The only con is that they were $99.99, but they were well worth it.
